

CBCF Congressional Internship Program

Congressional
Black Caucus
Foundation, Inc.

Program Overview

Established in 1986, the CBCF Congressional Internship Program answered the call to help diversify our democracy by increasing the pool of talented public servants.

CBCF brings talented college undergraduates from across the country to enter the halls of power and take an inside look into the United States Congress.

The intensive 9-week program places students in congressional offices to work under the guidance of Congressional Black Caucus Members and their professional staffs.

Our interactive educational curriculum and professional development seminars connect interns with CBC Members and other power brokers to provide a distinctive and enriching experience. Students leave the program as better-informed decision makers in the policy making process.
